Agilus Work Solutions Acquires The Delivery Group, to Further Expand their Technology Recruitment Solutions and Services

Toronto, ON – January 12, 2021 – Agilus (Design Group Staffing Inc.), a recognized leader in the staffing industry has announced its second acquisition in less than four months, taking another bold step towards becoming Canada’s number one recruitment firm. Today, Agilus finalized its purchase of TDG (The Delivery Group), an award-winning staffing services company with IT advisory services that focuses on the business impact of technology.

“TDG broadens our ability to offer innovative IT recruiting services to businesses operating in Canada,” said Craig Brown, CEO, Agilus. “Our clients tell us that one of their priorities is digitizing their business and keeping their technology current and operational. TDG complements our future-forward plans to help businesses stay competitive through experienced and knowledgeable recruiting counsel, finding the right candidates and supporting project plans that positively impact their business goals.”

“Agilus’ Canadian platform and longstanding history in the recruitment industry brings a perfect complement to The Delivery Group team. Together, we will strengthen a Canadian owned and operated brand by expanding our service offering and reach to our clients and consultants,” said Diana De Melo, CEO, The Delivery Group. “This acquisition accelerates The Delivery Group’s ability to become a national competitor with an edge to transform the recruitment industry. Our clients ask us for future minded, turnkey solutions. Combining with Agilus will allow us to provide these solutions, and rapidly expand to meet and exceed the expectations of our clients and consultants. I look forward to working with Craig and the team at Agilus as we move into this next juncture”.

The combined forces of Agilus and TDG offer businesses across Canada a robust recruitment service offering that rivals international recruitment players with best-in-class organizational transformation solutions that exceed client technology objectives through continuous improvement of services and people. Craig Brown explains, “Clients have told us that the pandemic has been more of an accelerator than an obstacle. The new expedited normal has meant a heavier reliance on more IT professionals and IT talent solutions to launch technology transformations, new workforce-access models, or update customer interaction technologies.”

Agilus is the largest privately owned staffing firm in Canada, recognized as a Best Managed Firm by Deloitte for the 22nd year in 2021. Agilus continues to grow organically and through acquisitions, having recently acquired BOWEN Group in Q3 of 2021. BOWEN has been recognized as a Best Managed Firm by Deloitte for the third year in a row, awarded Canada’s Most Admired Work Culture Award and was recognized as the only Diversity-owned staffing firm in Canada by SIA.
